Please take a moment to check your name, affiliation, and credentials, and let us know if any corrections are needed.

We understand the time constraints you all work under, and we truly value your contribution, especially as this is a pro bono commitment driven by your interest in the field and dedication to advancing the discipline.

To ensure smooth and timely processing of manuscripts, we request the following:

- Aim to complete 2–4 reviews per month within your area of expertise
- If you are unable to take up a review, please suggest 2–3 suitable reviewers so that we can avoid delays and maintain issue timelines

We also encourage you to contribute actively to the journal through:

- Original manuscripts
- Review articles
- Editorials and commentaries

Going forward, we will conduct a six-monthly performance review of Editorial Board contributions. The board will be revised periodically based on engagement and review activity.

We appreciate your continued support.
